A message from the head teacher...

Dear parents, I hope you are all well, firstly thanks for the efforts on World Book Day—the chefs all looked great and children really enjoyed the cooking element. Next year we'll go back to dress as a book character theme so that children can get some more individual expression in there—but it was nice to try something new.

As you may have seen last week, I e-mailed re a special new values assembly on the 25th April at 1430 in the church. Since December, the Lewknor staff have been working on a new vision for Lewknor and we are going to launch our new school values to parents on this day. Thanks to all for your comments via the parent survey—they really helped shape our new vision and I have already been able to action some of the suggested points for development you put forward.

Lewknor has the potential to be one of the best schools in Oxfordshire and our new vision will help us to continue to provide a fantastic educational and pastoral offering for children and parents.

Several bingo balls are scattered around, with numbers like 42, 26, 12, 15, 30, and 44. The text 'Gather your family and friends.
